Because United Way works. United Way fights for the health, education, and financial stability of every person in Logan County. But don't just take it from us. Read what Logan County business leaders have to say about their corporate partnership with United Way...

ALISON MARKER, President, Marker, Inc.

"There are so many nonprofit organizations out there, but United Way is a one stop shop that I trust to allocate funds fairly to organizations that have proven themselves to be well-organized and well-run. United Way takes care of the vetting work and administration so that we don't have to. You can make a difference in the lives of people in your community and United Way makes it so easy to do that."

JUSTIN DINOVO, President, Citizens Federal Savings & Loan

"Most of us are asked weekly, if not daily, to support a charitable program, event, or organization. It can be overwhelming. United Way allows us to confidently serve many worthwhile organizations within our community. Their strong leadership and vetting process assures that the funds raised go to programs that are needed and well-managed."

TERESA CUMMINS, Vice President, Belletech Corporation

"It helps us show our associates that Belletech is truly interested in making Logan County a better place to live and raise a family. You may be surprised. Sometimes those who make the least are the biggest givers."

A name you can trust!

United Way meets all 20 Standards of Charitable Accountability established by the Better Business Bureau. 91 cents of every dollar you give goes directly to programming.
